25.03	23-Mar	SCR	CA-252447	Batch/Interfaces	CalFresh, CalWORKs	Noma Meza	Migration counties could opt into either the regular or flexible CalWORKs (CW)/CalFresh (CF) RE Appointment Scheduling batch job. LA has its own CWCF RE Appointment Scheduling batch job.  CWCF RE Appointment Scheduling batch jobs booked appointments one day at a time. This caused the majority of the monthly CWCF RE appointments to be scheduled for the first few days of the month. Although there were appointments scheduled across the entire month, the biggest variance always occurred on the first few business days of the month.  The CWCF RE Appointment Scheduling batch jobs began scheduling appointments on the first of the RE Due Month. The batches used 10-day NOA cutoff logic, and then went back an additional 2 business days to find the final day of the RE month for which appointments will be scheduled.  Customers who did not have a valid phone number were not scheduled for RE appointments.  When a recipient opted into IVR notification, the batches were not checking the "Outbound IVR Call" checkbox on the "Customer Appointment Detail" page.	The CalWORKs (CW)/CalFresh (CF) RE Appointment Scheduling Batches will fill appointment slots across days instead of one day at a time. This will allow appointments to be spread evenly based on the existing days identified in the batch-job logic.  For Migration Counties: For CF Only REs, the CWCF RE Appointment Scheduling batches will begin scheduling appointments for the day after NOA 10-day in the month prior to the RE Due Month, provided worker availability is entered for this timeframe. The batch will also skip scheduling an appointment for any case that has an appointment during this timeframe. (NOTE: CW and CWCF REs will continue to be scheduled in the RE Due Month). In addition, the CWCF RE Appointment Scheduling batches will schedule appointments through 10-day NOA cutoff. The batches will also bypass the valid phone number requirement for counties that opted to have the customer call them for the RE phone interview ("inbound" phone appointments). In addition, when a recipient has opted in to IVR notification, the CWCF RE Appointment Scheduling batches will check the "Outbound IVR Call" checkbox when scheduling the appointment.
